Professor Julia Addington-Hall

Julia Addington-Hall is a visiting Professor at the Faculty of Health Sciences

Julia is a social scientist whose internationally renowned research into palliative and end of life care takes a public health perspective.

Julia is visiting as part of the Complex Healthcare Processes research group, Cancer Survivorship and End of Life Care theme.

Research interests

• What palliative care is, who needs is, and how it can most effectively be delivered

• The meaning of, and predictors of, home as place of death

• Quality improvement in palliative and end of life care at the service and population level

• Decision-making at the end of life

• The family in dying and bereavement: variations and consequences