Letter from I.S.Isaacs, honorary secretary of the United Hebrew Charities of the City of New York, to Lionel L.Cohen, President of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 18 May 1881, discussing the case of the Angel children whose father is living in the United States under the name Engelman. Prior communication has been sent to the Board to have the children sent to the United States. It is noted that the wife of Edward Angel is living in New York but is unable to care for herself. The father is living in Monticello, Florida, and is reported to be fully able to take care of his children. It is hoped the wanderings of the unfortunate children will cease once they have been forwarded to their father.

Letter from Samuel Montagu, 12 Kensington Palace Gardens, London, to Lionel L.Cohen, President of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 21 September 1884, providing advice regarding the emigration question. Montague discusses his prior resignation from the Board and the Council of the United Synagogue before providing his advice regarding the emigration question which he has previously given to the Committee of the United Hebrew Charities in New York. He states that no males should be sent to America who are unable to undertake hard work. He details requirements for emigrants travelling either to Philadelphia, west of Philadelphia, or to New York. He states that the Board should be careful in selecting emigrants and should act in accordance with United Hebrew Charities in New York.

Letter from Henry Rice, president of the United Hebrew Charities, New York, to [the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor], 18 August 1884, discussing cases of Romanian, Russian, and other Jews emigrating to the United States. The letter focuses on immigrants who are unable or unwilling to earn a livelihood or to assimilate with the new conditions of life in America and condemns institutions aiding such paupers to emigrate to the United States. It is stated that, due to the inability of Jewish charitable societies to support the increasing influx of poor people, and the determination of the public authorities to refuse pauper emigrants, European charitable bodies should refrain from sending such emigrants. It is suggested that emigration cases are investigated and information is forwarded to the United Hebrew Charities prior to departure.

Letter from E.M.Henriques, honorary secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor of Manchester, to Sydney M.Samuel, honorary secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 5 June 1881, discussing the case of Woolf Lazarus. It is noted that the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor in London has sent the wife and children of Woolf Lazarus back to Manchester [after having been deserted by the husband]. Henriques argues that London is the correct locale for the family and they have already been twice returned to London by the Board in Manchester. The states that the Board in London should have adopted other means in dealing with the case and notes that the clerk of the Board in Manchester has been instructed to send the family back to London.

..CONT:

Letter from Lionel L.Cohen, President of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, Nice, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, discussing the Board taking charge of Mrs Bloomberg's money. Cohen does not think they ought to refuse to take charge of the money and requests a letter be drafted stating that they are holding the money at the woman's request. It is noted that nothing can be done for her permanent benefit until her confinement. Cohen recommends placing before the rota committee an agreement regarding the living she can get after her confinement and discusses the establishment of a ledger account with Mrs Bloomberg.

Her husband, Simon Emanuel, is described as a shift and worthless character who recently attended missionary societies and was baptised. The wife is anxious to remain within the pale of the Synagogue with her two children, a boy and a girl. She is described as an industrious woman and it is hoped that the Board will agree to a weekly allowance to enable her to maintain her children. Adler will try to assist with having one of the children admitted to the Norwood Institution.

Letter from L.Emanuel, 22 Stephens Square, London, to Lionel L.Cohen, President of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 26 November 1882, informing that he has been requested by the executive of the Board of Deputies to proceed by diplomatic steps to rescue the girl Rosenberg from the nunnery in Middlesborough into which she has been entrapped. If he is successful he hopes Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians, will make arrangements for her board and lodging until she can be sent to her parents in New York. If he fails the Board of Deputies will take steps to have the girl made a ward of court and, if the court will no approve her father, will request that the either Cohen or Stephany, as members of the Board of Guardians, be appointed as guardian of the child. Emanuel guarantees against costs to the Board of Guardians and requests a reply.

Letter from H.Adler, Office of the Chief Rabbi, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 26 December 1882, informing of the case of two Jewish children named Hyman Barnet Grabashawer, aged between six and seven, and Jane Grabasawer, aged between four and five, in a Christian Orphan Home at Lachine House Gilmore Place, Edinburgh. The case was brought to their attention by Mr Fürst, the reader of the Edinburgh Synagogue. After the death of their father their mother was left destitute. Mr Wilkinston, the missionary of Bethnal Green, took charge of the children and placed them in the care of Mrs Young, the governess of the Christian Orphan Home. The are understood to have a grandfather and elder brother living in London.

Letter from H.Adler, Office of the Chief Rabbi, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 1 January 1883, requesting the case of two Jewish children named Hyman Barnet Grabashawer, aged between six and seven, and Jane Grabasawer, aged between four and five, be brought under the notice of the Board. The children were inmates of an orphanage at Lachine House Gilmore Place, Edinburgh having been placed there by Mr Wilkinston, the missionary of Bethnal Green. The mother was a widow and was in receipt of a weekly allowance from the Board. The children were subsequently placed under the care of their grandfather, Mr Cooper, with the Board providing him with a weekly allowance for their maintenance. After the allowance was stopped the grandfather, owing to his poverty, handed them to the missionaries. It now is understood that the Board will apply to have them admitted to the Jews' Hospital and Orphan Asylum under the provisions of the Pauper Removal Act.

Paper detailing the case of the children of Mrs Grabashawer, [January 1883]. Mrs Grabashawer was in receipt of a weekly allowance from the Board from 1877 to 1880. In July 1880 she requested a sum of £2 from the Board for business purposes after which she left her children and went to Paris. The children were subsequently placed under the care of their grandfather. Nothing more was heard of the children until the case was brought to the attention of the Board in a letter from Hermann Adler.

Letter from Henry Rice, president of the United Hebrew Charities, New York, and I.S.Isaacs, secretary of the United Hebrew Charities, New York, to the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 18 August 1884, discussing cases of Romanian, Russian, and other Jews emigrating to the United States. The letter focuses on immigrants who are unable or unwilling to earn a livelihood or to assimilate with the new conditions of life in America and condemns institutions aiding such paupers to emigrate to the United States. It is stated that, due to the inability of Jewish charitable societies to support the increasing influx of poor people, and the determination of the public authorities to refuse pauper emigrants, European charitable bodies should refrain from sending such emigrants. It is suggested that emigration cases are investigated and information is forwarded to the United Hebrew Charities prior to departure. Hyam explains that the use of the shorter title was to remove the stigma of being in receipt of eleemosynary relief which the full title appeared to cast on the families of apprentices under the charge of the Board. He outlines the cases in which it has been used and hopes the Board will sanction its adoption.

Report on the case of Annie Solomons, [December 1884]. She is identified as a four year old child in the Whitechapel Union who is understood to be the illegitimate child of a women known by the name of Jane. The mother has been in London for many years and was turned out of her brothers house after giving birth to the child of a young man named Salomon while having a husband in Poland. After receiving a Ghet (a divorce) from her husband she planned to marry the man and left with him for Austria. She abandoned the child in the street and did not let anyone give information about the case prior while she remained in the neighbourhood.

Letter from Samuel Machen, School Board for London, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 28 March 1885, discussing the case of Marks Newman. It noted that the boy's mother, Henrietta Newman, has been summoned by the Worship Street Police Court for disobedience to an attendance order requiring her to send her son to the Jews' Free School. Despite support from the Board to enable the boy to attend school he has not been in attendance for several months. It is stated that unless the Board is prepared to have him placed in an appropriate institution he will be sent to an Industrial School.

Letter from A.Asher, secretary of the United Synagogue, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 9 April 1885, thanking the Board for their investigations in connection with applications for the distribution of matzos and discussing the sending of Jewish children to Industrial Schools in connection with the case of Marks Newman. In response to the case of Marks Newman, Asher refers to efforts by the Board and the United Synagogue to induce managers of Industrial Schools to accept Jewish boys. He outlines the religious requirements for Jewish children in Industrial School and notes the willingness of the United Synagogue to provide services for their instruction. However, the Board and the United Synagogue have not been successful in inducing any institution to receiving Jewish children without them being compelled to learn Christianity and attend Christian worship. Regarding the case of Marks Newman, he states that the Synagogue has no desire to interfere with the magistrate of the Worship Street Police Court's discretion to send the boy to an Industrial School.

Report of delegates of the Board and Visitation Committee of the United Synagogue on the subject of an Industrial School for Jewish Children, 2 April 1886. The report outlines efforts made by delegates to obtain concessions from an existing Industrial School to meet the requirements of Jewish inmates. The Home Secretary was unable to aid the delegates in the matter. The majority of delegates were of the opinion that it would be undesirable to establish a Jewish Industrial School. An amending act is being prepared by the Home Secretary regarding Industrial Schools and it is suggested an effort be made to secure provisions adapted to the requirements of the Jewish community.

Report on deserted cases in connection with Esther Davis and Dora Gold, 4 October 1886.

The grandparents of Esther Davis have suggested that she was born of a Christian mother with particulars requested from the clerk of the Shoreditch Union. Dora Gold arrived [in New York] on the SS Rynland. It is noted that there have been difficulties tracing her and she denies motherhood. Reference is made to her family leaving for the States who could identify her.

Letter from Jacob Goldman, 95 Norfolk Street, New York City, to Morris Stephany, secretary of the Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor, 18 October 1886, providing information regarding the case of Lewis Cohen who migrated to America leaving five children homeless in London. Goldman knows Cohen and approached him in New York about his cruelty to his children but Cohen said he did not care. Cohen has since moved to Boston. Goldman has discussed the case with Charles Frank of the United Hebrew Charities in New York. Goldberg references the Board's assistance in sending his wife and two children from London to New York and requests their help in finding a box of carpenter's tools that was noticed missing when his wife landed.

Copy of a letter from W.Bosher, relief officer of the City of London Union, to Frederick William Crane, clerk and superintendent registrar of the City of London Union, 24 September 1887, reporting on the case of Isaac Samuels. The boy was living with a man named Simon Marks but was sent to the Infirmary due to his dirty habits. He was also sent home from the Jewish Infant School on Commercial Road for the same reason. The Board of Guardians for the Relief of the Jewish Poor assisted his mother, Maria Samuels, in migrating to America without knowing she was the mother of a child. Simon Marks has indicated he would having the boy again if he proved to be of clean habits.

Report on deserted children including Reuben Gold, Landers children, Harris Phillips children, Simmons children, and Sarah Rachel Sulkin, 8 October 1888. The Board has been in contact with the United Hebrew Charities in New York regarding Dora Gold, the mother of Reuben Gold, who denies the child being hers. The three Landers (Langer) children were brought from Russia by an elder brother to live with their father, Jacob Langer, in London. The Board supported the father in emigrating to America with his family, unaware that the three children now in a workhouse in the hamlet of Mile End Old Town are from his first marriage. Harris Phillips deserted his wife and five children in September 1887. The mother died in July 1888 with the children taken care of by relatives on an allowance from the Board. The father and uncle are in New York, and the Board has contact the uncle regarding sending the children over. The Board were informed of the case of Annie and Lazarus Simmons by the Whitechapel Union. There were in the South Grove Workhouse having been deserted by their parents. The mother is understood to have left for Russia with the children placed under the care of their aunt, Mrs Markofski. Their aunt handed them over to the police as being destitute and deserted. Sarah Rachel Sulkin was left by her mother in St Petersburg who proceeded to Liverpool. During the child's transit to London the mother and remainder of the family were dispatched to Boston. The child has now been dispatched to Boston under the charge of a family named Harris Gold.

Report on deserted cases, including Ruben [Reuben] Gold, Langer [Landers] children, Harris Phillips children, Simmons children, Fanny Boer's child, the Brightstone family, and Sarah Rachel Sulkin, 12 November 1888. There has been no further communication from Mr Stern of New York regarding Ruben Gold. The three Langer [Landers] children have been sent out to their father in New York in the charge of their elder brother. There has been no fresh information regarding Harris Phillips children. The father is believed to be residing in New York and in communication with people in London. The two Simmons children have been handed over to the custody of their stepfather. The illegitimate child of Fanny Boer has been deserted at the "Rescue Home" and the managers have asked the Board to pay for the keep of the child. The women referred to as Brightstone and her children came from the Whitechapel Union and arrangements were made by the Board to send her to Poland. The husband, who is now in prison, deserted his wife and had two children with him. He placed one with the missionaries and another in the charge of Woolf Cohen who refuses to give the child [Susan] over to the mother. A letter has been received from the father of Sarah Rachel Sulkin acknowledging her arrival in Boston, Massachusetts.

Duplicate copy of a memorandum as to accommodation for Jewish Children in Industrial Schools, [July 1889]. Lewis Emanuel, a member of the Board, has been active in efforts to procure the admission of Jewish children to Industrial schools where their faith will be permitted and respected. At an informal conference Emanuel informed those attending the the East London Industrial School was willing make arrangements for twenty-five to thirty Jewish boys while adhering to the conditions of the Board. The conference agreed on the creation of a fund for associated expenditure. Emanuel also informed the conference that similar arrangements have been agreed for Jewish girls at the King Edward Industrial School for Girls in Mile End.
