

Contents

Preface		vii
Abbreviations		ix
1	Continuity and change: British government and politics, 1770–1850 Peter Jupp	1
2	Siege warfare in the age of Wellington Bruce Collins	22
3	The image of European consorts in the late eighteenth century: Marie Louise, Queen of Spain, through the looking glass Antonio Juan Calvo Maturana	54
4	Politics and the Peninsular army Rory Muir	72
5	Guerrillas, bandits, adventurers and commissaries: the story of John Downie Charles J. Esdaile	94
6	Sir Thomas Lawrence and the Duke of Wellington: a portraitist and his sitter Susan Jenkins	126
7	Wellington in petticoats: the Duke as caricature Richard Gaunt	140
8	Wellington and the Clinton expedition to Portugal, 1826–8 Clive Willis	173
9	Politics, administration and decision-making: Wellington and the Navy, 1828–30 Andrew Lambert	185
10	The Wellington pamphlets, Catholic emancipation and national identity Shirley Matthews	244
11	‘The “hero of a thousand battles” betrays us!’ The Duke as hero and villain during the emancipation crisis and after Kathryn Beresford	274

12	‘The champions of the Protestant cause will not lightly abandon it’: the Ultra Tory press and the Wellington administration Douglas Simes	299
13	Greatest living Englishman? The standing of the Duke of Wellington as seen at Queen Victoria’s coronation Robert Morton	323
14	Conversations with the Duke Christopher Woolgar	338
	Index	359

Plates

El juegos entre Brivones y Tontos	62
Besamanos ... que quisiera ver quemadas	63
Sir John Downie	97
The man wot drives the sovereign	149
Dame Partington and the Ocean of Reform	153
Achilles in the sulks	157
The political house that Jack built	161
The Duke that Trench built	164
Portrait of a noble Duke	280
The field of Battersea	288
Wellington’s speech on trade and finance	349

Tables

The Duke of Wellington in caricature	141
--------------------------------------	-----