Welcome to the University of Southampton

The University of Southampton has a global reputation for academic excellence. We are one of the top five universities in the UK for engineering, and have established a branch campus within the EduCity development in Iskandar Malaysia to enable more students to experience our world-class education.

We have had the privilege of educating students from Malaysia for over 50 years and continue to welcome new undergraduate and postgraduate students to Southampton each year. We are fortunate to enjoy good links with Malaysia that span many disciplines and levels of education and research. We have excellent links with research universities including the University of Malaya. We also enjoy strong relationships with government schools, international schools and many colleges and university colleges.

We invite you to join our premier undergraduate engineering programmes and Engineering Foundation Year and take the opportunity to study using some of the latest research facilities and equipment in the world, where you can put the theory you learn into practice and deliver real results.

Our split-campus (UK and Malaysia) degree programmes offer the chance to gain a unique 'Southampton' education in Malaysia combined with the final two years at a world-class research-centred University in the UK. You will graduate with a degree from an internationally recognised University and experience higher education in the UK. The programmes of study are, as far as possible, the same as those of our UK-based provision and lead to the award of the same degrees.

The University of Southampton is registered as a Private Institute of Higher Learning by the Ministry of Education Malaysia and our engineering programmes have been approved by the Malaysian Qualifications Agency and the Board of Engineers Malaysia.

We invite you to study at the University of Southampton and take your place at the cutting-edge, among some of the most talented students and academics from around the world.

Professor John McBride, Chief Executive Officer
