

Primary Care and Population Sciences: PhD Research Presentation Half Day

Monday 21st January 2019, IDS Lecture Theatre, Southampton General Hospital

9.15	Julie Parkes	Welcome and Introduction
9.20	Rachel Dewar-Haggart	Attitudes and Preferences of People regarding Long-term Antidepressant Use for Depression: The APPLAUD Study
9.35	Steph Hughes	A qualitative synthesis exploring the experiences of men undergoing active surveillance for prostate cancer and their significant others
9.50	Nida Ziauddeen	Examining maternal and early life risk associations with childhood overweight and obesity in a population-based cohort
10.05	Bethan Treadgold	Online resources for childhood eczema: A survey of parents and carers of children with eczema
10.20	Athena Ip	Perceptions of acne and acne treatments: secondary analysis of qualitative interview data
10.35	Sam Hornsey	Management of sleep problems in children up to the age of five in Primary Care
10.50 – 11.10	Break
11.10	James Morris	Population-level assessment of treatment burden in multimorbidity
11.25	Kate Glyn-Owen	Redefining risk of liver disease in the general population: Analysis of the Health Survey for England 2016
11.40	Martin Logue	A double blind, randomised, placebo controlled, feasibility trial evaluating the possibility of delivering AndroGRAPHis pAnicuLata (Immunographis) as a treatment Of adults with Acute Respiratory Tract Infections (ARTIs): GRAPHALO
11.55	Robin Poole	Exploring coffee consumption in people with liver disease and understanding barriers and enablers of increasing their consumption (CUPLID)
12.10	Fernando Santos Sanchez	A Web Platform for Public Involvement in Patient Information Design
12.25	Doug Hardman	Subjunctive medicine: how clinicians use performance as a framework for person-centred care in general practice
12.40 – 13.30	Lunch & Networking	