James Parkes has noted on the back of the photograph:

“Mrs Beatrice M.Masters sent me this photograph of W.J.Ibbett (taken by her husband) with the comment (31st March 1959):

‘... it is very good but much too respectable, he dressed up in his best for it: usually you would see him with no collar or tie, and with no socks - just bare feet - he was a crank - of the unwashed ... but he was a very loveable man. His motto was “While alive remain hidden”.’

Alas as a poet this motto seems to have worked against him.”
