Standing Up For Science

A seminar by
Victoria Murphy

Programme Manager at Sense About Science

“Do you grumble to your friends when you see contradictory science stories? Every day, we hear claims about what is good for our health, bad for the environment, how to improve education, cut crime, and treat disease. Some are based on reliable evidence and scientific rigour, but many are not. So how can we make companies, politicians, commentators and official bodies accountable for the claims they make? If they want us to vote for them, believe them, or buy their products, then we should ask for evidence!”

Victoria will talk about how Sense About Science and the Voice of Young Science (VoYS) network stand up for science and how YOU can get involved.

When: Thursday 29th January, 5-6pm
(followed by networking, pizza & drinks)

Where: LT1, Level B, South Academic Block, SGH
